

Cross Border Matters

Bangladesh is one of the leading manufacturers of garments, pharmaceutical and leather goods. The volume of international trade in different parts of the world is increasing due to the expansion of trade. As trade volume grows, so does the number of cross-border disputes and claims at the same time. The disputes usually concern international trade and commerce involving loss of cargo, defective delivery of cargo, default in payment etc. Besides, large numbers of cross-border disputes are also taking place in relation to the payment, investment, shipping. In the absence of any arbitration clause, the only recourse available is to rely on the conflict of laws principle and select appropriate forums where the matter can be brought before the Court of law. Forum shopping is, historically, challenging work as contesting parties rarely reach an agreement on a forum (For more details on Private International Law please click here).

The legal service in cross-border matters is complex, as it involves knowledge and expertise on different jurisdiction. From Bangladeshi context, cross-border legal services required in the area of international trade, insolvency, shipping, information technology, share accusation etc. As a leading law firm, we had the opportunity to deal with a number of cross-border matters.

International Trade

Cross-Border disputes involving international trade is very common. Disputes arise from several reasons e.g. misdelivery of cargo, non-payment, defective cargo, shortfall etc. In the absence of suitable arbitration clause, resolving such disputes is always a difficult task. Accordingly non-contentious legal support for vetting e.g. trade documents proved very fruitful which allows clients to avoid significantly various legal risks and losses.

Insolvency

Insolvency of a company, having invested in a subsidiary located in another country, makes a significant impact on the business and operation of that subsidiary company and due to a significant number of investment by the number of multinational companies, need for legal services for cross-border insolvency is also increasing.

Shipping

Shipping companies, port authorities and customs authorities' deals with huge quantities of various cargos originated from different countries. In Shipping, common disputed areas are misdeclaration of cargo, shortfall, misdeclaration of weight, quantity and quality etc. Such disputes are essentially cross-border disputes involving laws and regulations of more than one jurisdiction. Both contentious and noncontentious legal supports are required.

Information Technology

Cross-Border legal service on Information Technology (IT) matters is a very common affair. IT companies and consumers both require legal support involving IP, Cyberlaw of another jurisdiction. Protection of IP is an extremely important factor for IT companies; on the other hand data privacy of consumers is becoming a global concern requiring cross-border legal advisory support.

Share Acquisition

Global take over or buying or selling of shares in a company located in another jurisdiction is clearly a cross-border transaction. Multinational companies and foreign investment companies frequently take the services of lawyers in cross-border share acquisitions work which involves due diligence, valuation signing agreements and few other formalities.
